Vive La France!

„Living like God in France“ - who wouldn't want that. As a guest student in France, you will fulfill at least part of the phrase, namely living in this attractive country. France has a lot to offer you - the typical French way of life, the French food, the culture, the diverse landscape, the great past, present and future. If you've already had a few years of French in your school and your French book may have described the typical situations of a French family - now you could continue writing this story, with you as the main character.

Well then - off to France!

Family As a host student, you will live with a host family in France. Your host family will take you in out of pure hospitality and will not receive any money for it. In the family you will live as a „temporary family member“, with all rights and obligations.

In principle, your host family can live anywhere in France. A regional election is possible.

School In France, you will attend a „Lycée“.

In the French school, like any other student, you are supposed to take part in normal lessons, write papers and tests and also get grades. Of course, the lessons are held in French - with the exception of the foreign languages there.

During your visit to the host school in France, you will have three contact persons at your disposal: the local employee of the French colleagues, the French headquarters and, of course, the high school. You can contact all three if you have any questions, would like to discuss or tell something, or if you have a wish.
